THE
SOUTH HIGH ANNUAL
1946

YOUNGSTOWN, OHIO

Dedication . . .

In this first year of peace, 1946, we solemnly dedicate our annual to men and women of South High School who so gallantly served in the armed forces of the United States during World War II. Because of their sacrifices and devotion to duty we are once more able to live the "American Way of Life" secure in the knowledge that the oppressors of our liberty have been vanquished.

"Warriors," we salute you!

Superintendent of Schools . . .

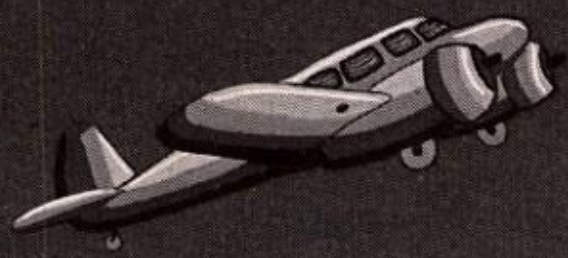
PAUL C. BUNN

This is the Air Age!

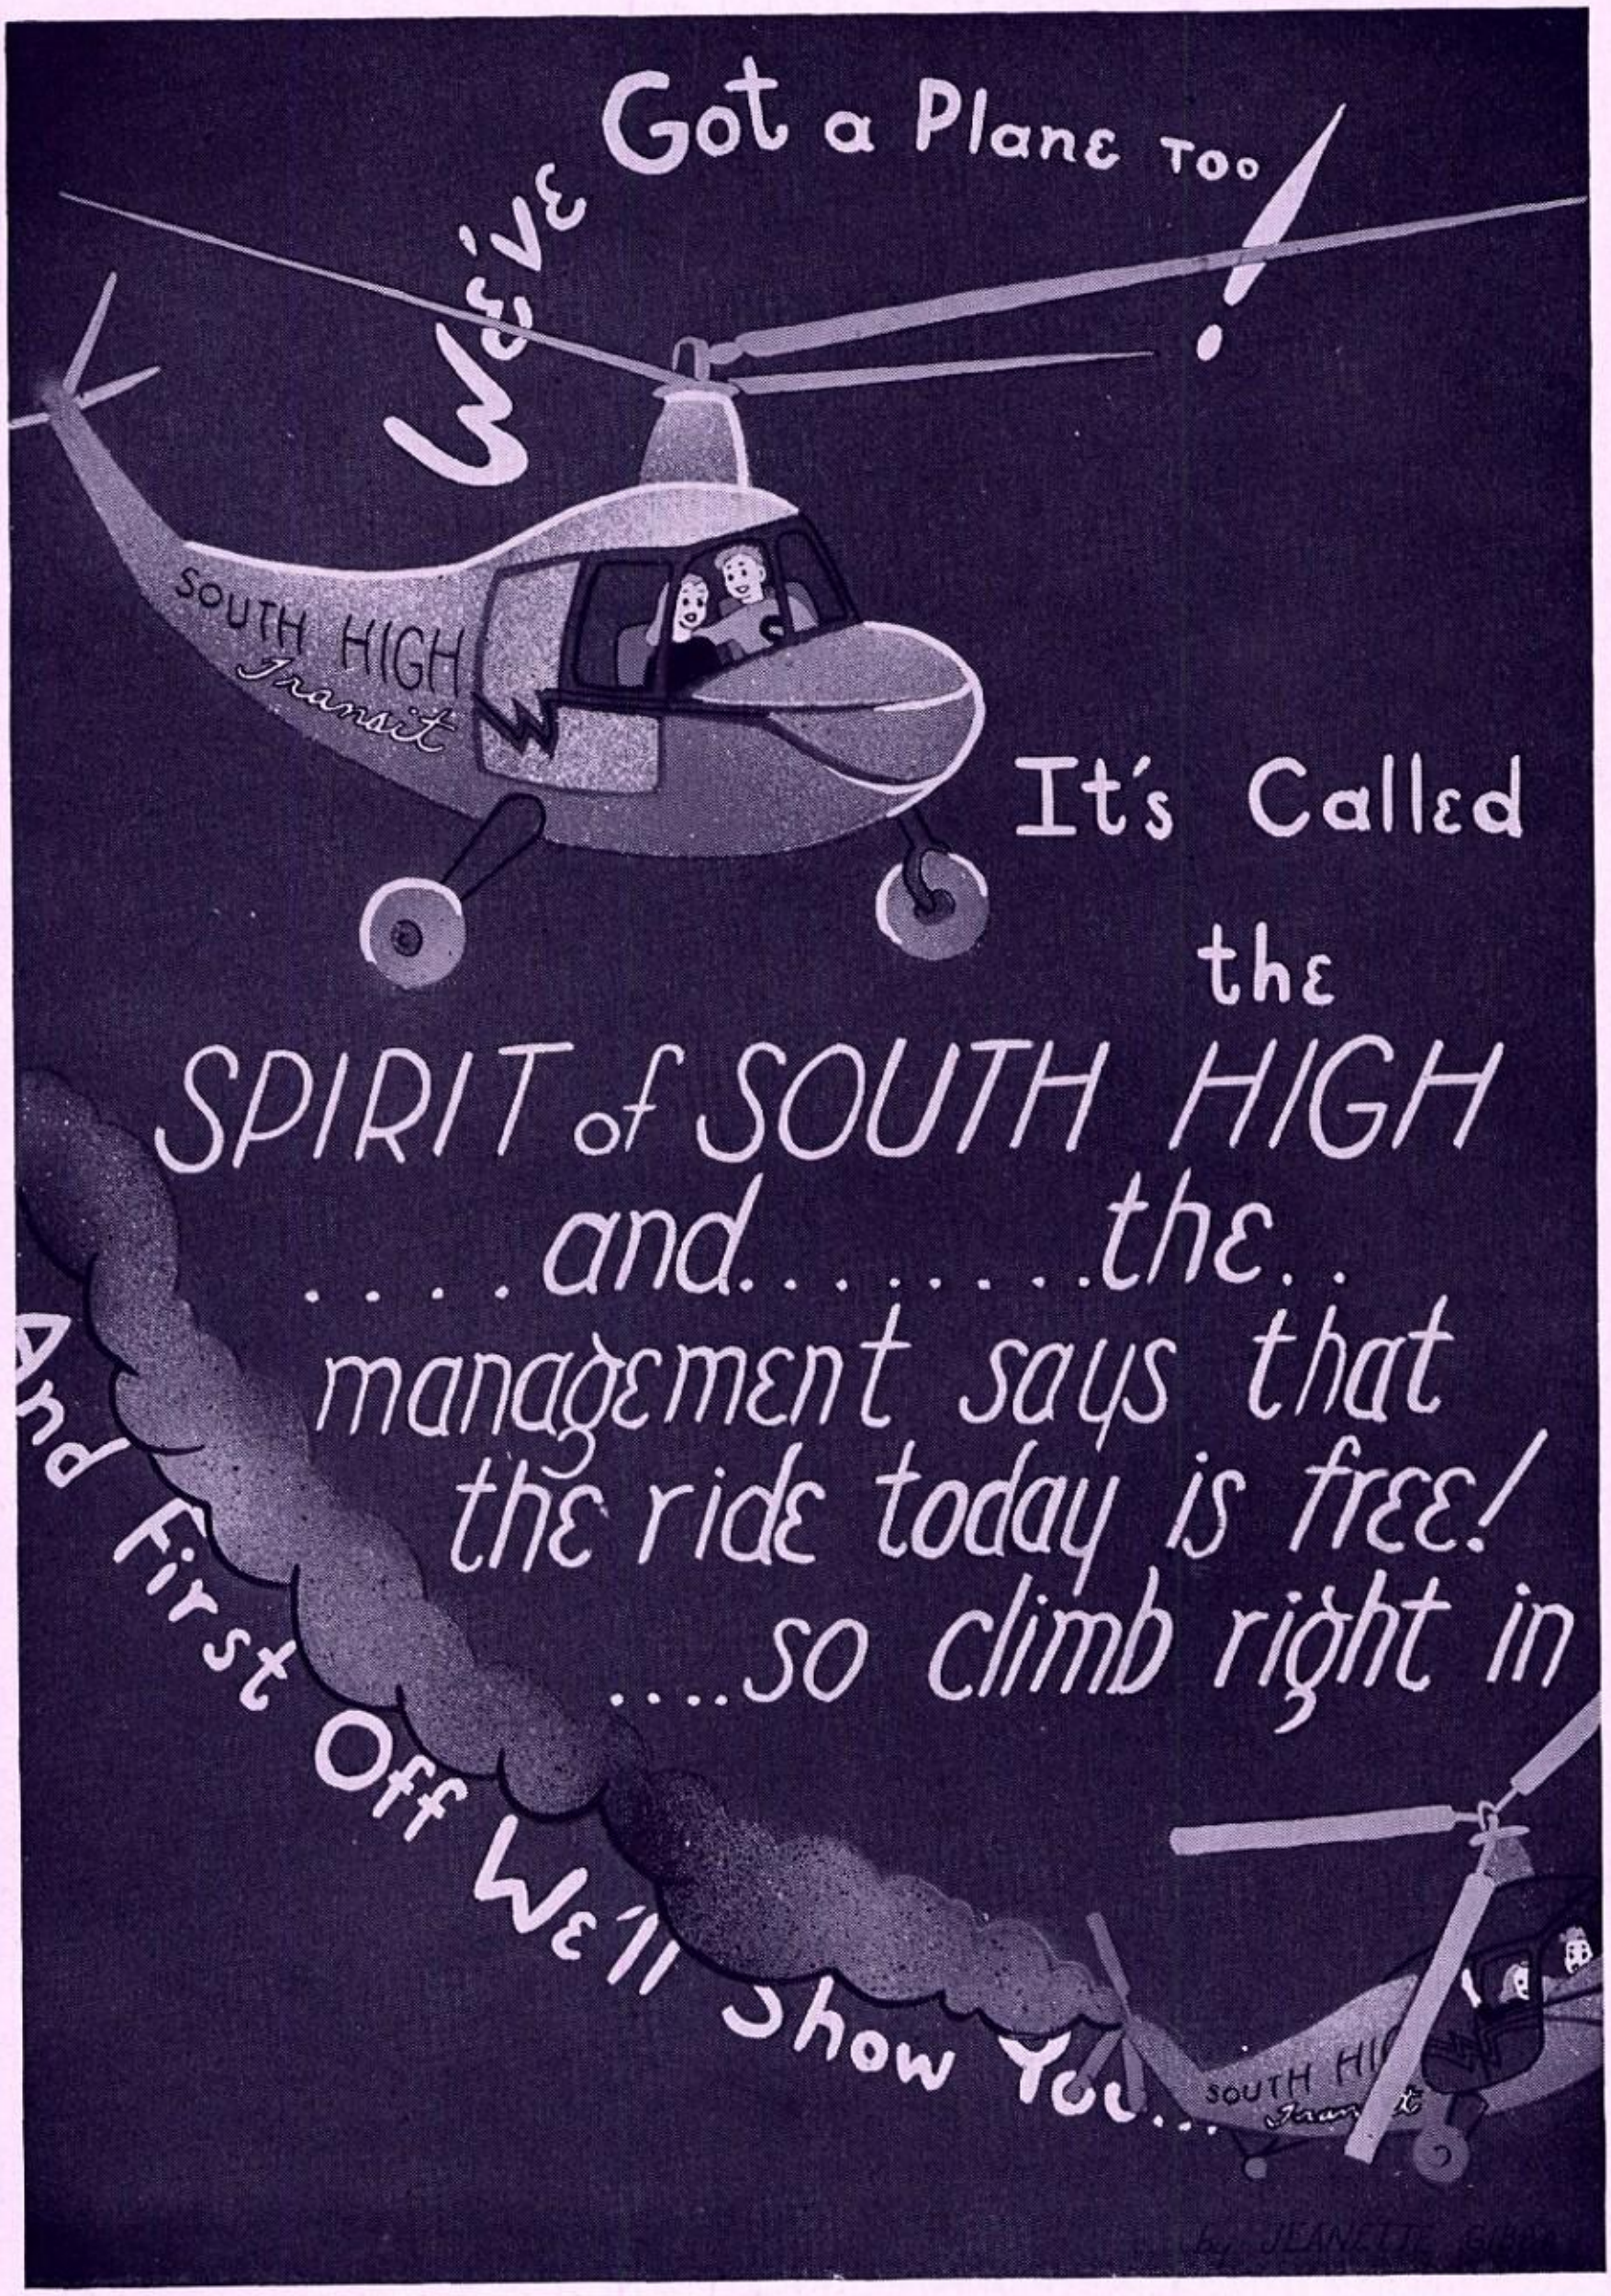
Big ones...

Little ones...

Planes Fill The Skies!



...and Medium-Sized ones...



We've Got a Plane too!
SOUTH HIGH
Transit
It's Called
the
SPIRIT of SOUTH HIGH
.....and.....the..
management says that the ride today is free!
....so climb right in
And First Off We'll Show You...

Home Airport . . .

Here's our home airport! Through its halls pass daily hundreds of "cadets" intent upon learning the groundwork of their future "missions" in life; in its many rooms are enacted the scenes so necessary to make this possible; and from its wide doors emerge each year the select group who have____"earned their wings."

This is no common airport. Ivy-covered walls are not made over-night. Constructed in 1911 it has for over thirty-five years grown in the rich traditions which today rank it among the finest.

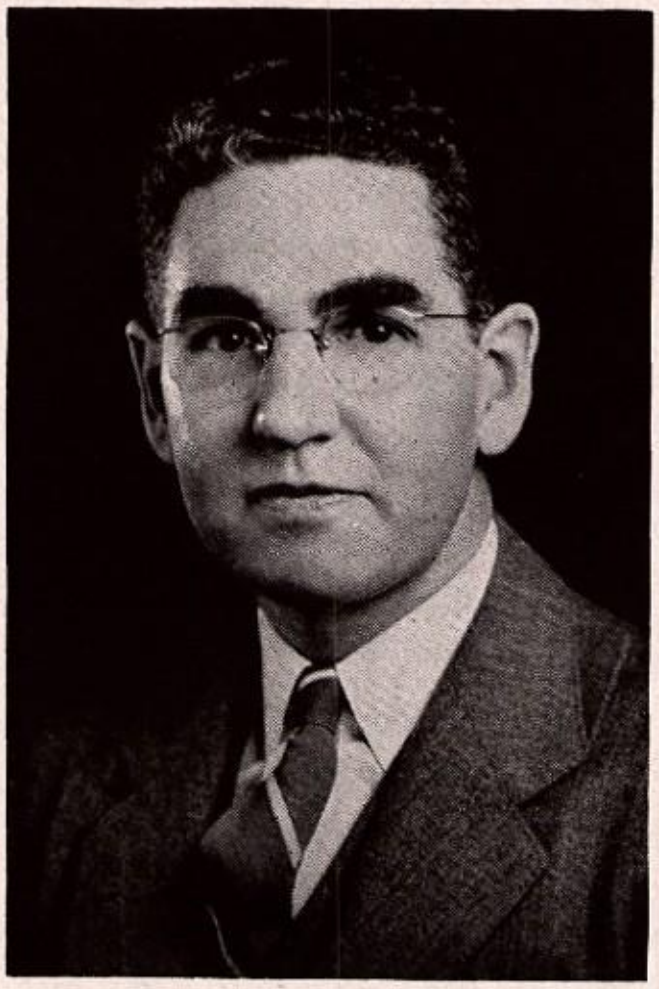
It is the building which makes it possible for past graduates to say with pride____"I went to South!"

President of Company . . .

ROBERT L. FLEMING

Commanding officer of our air base is Robert L. Fleming who has been in complete charge since 1938. Upon his shoulders rests the responsibility for the success of all our ventures, a task which he accomplishes to the complete satisfaction of everyone concerned. A sympathetic friend to both students and teachers and possessing unlimited patience and a fine sense of humor under the most trying situations, he has come to be admired by all of us privileged to know him.

General Manager . . .



FRED C. BEEDE

Always approached with ease and ready at a moment's notice to give aid and comfort to any "cadet" that might have had a bad "take-off," Fred C. Beede, general manager of our airport, merits the respect and admiration of both students and teachers alike. Among his many duties are the preparation of the semester program and the planning of school activities, tasks for which he is well fitted having been "well grounded" in South High affairs since 1919 following his graduation from Carnegie Institute of Technology.

Flight Engineers . . .

MARION P. MAIDEN

Marion P. Maiden

Miss Maiden, guiding force behind the destinies of the fair young ladies included in our student flight group, is especially well "grounded" in the principles of her work. This includes pre-flight work at both Western Reserve University, Wellesley College, and much time spent in the school of practical experience. Her deep sincerity and understanding have always resulted in complete cooperation upon the part of those who "contact" her. Hers is the right to say with satisfaction...."mission accomplished."

David M. Williams

Flight Engineer Williams, well-known and well-liked by all members at the air base, fills most of his days keeping the male "cadets" of South High School "on the right beam." Perhaps the fact that he, too, was a former South High student aids him in the accomplishment of this task. That isn't the whole story, however. Additional qualities include a cheerful informality and the feeling that "Here's a man I can talk to."

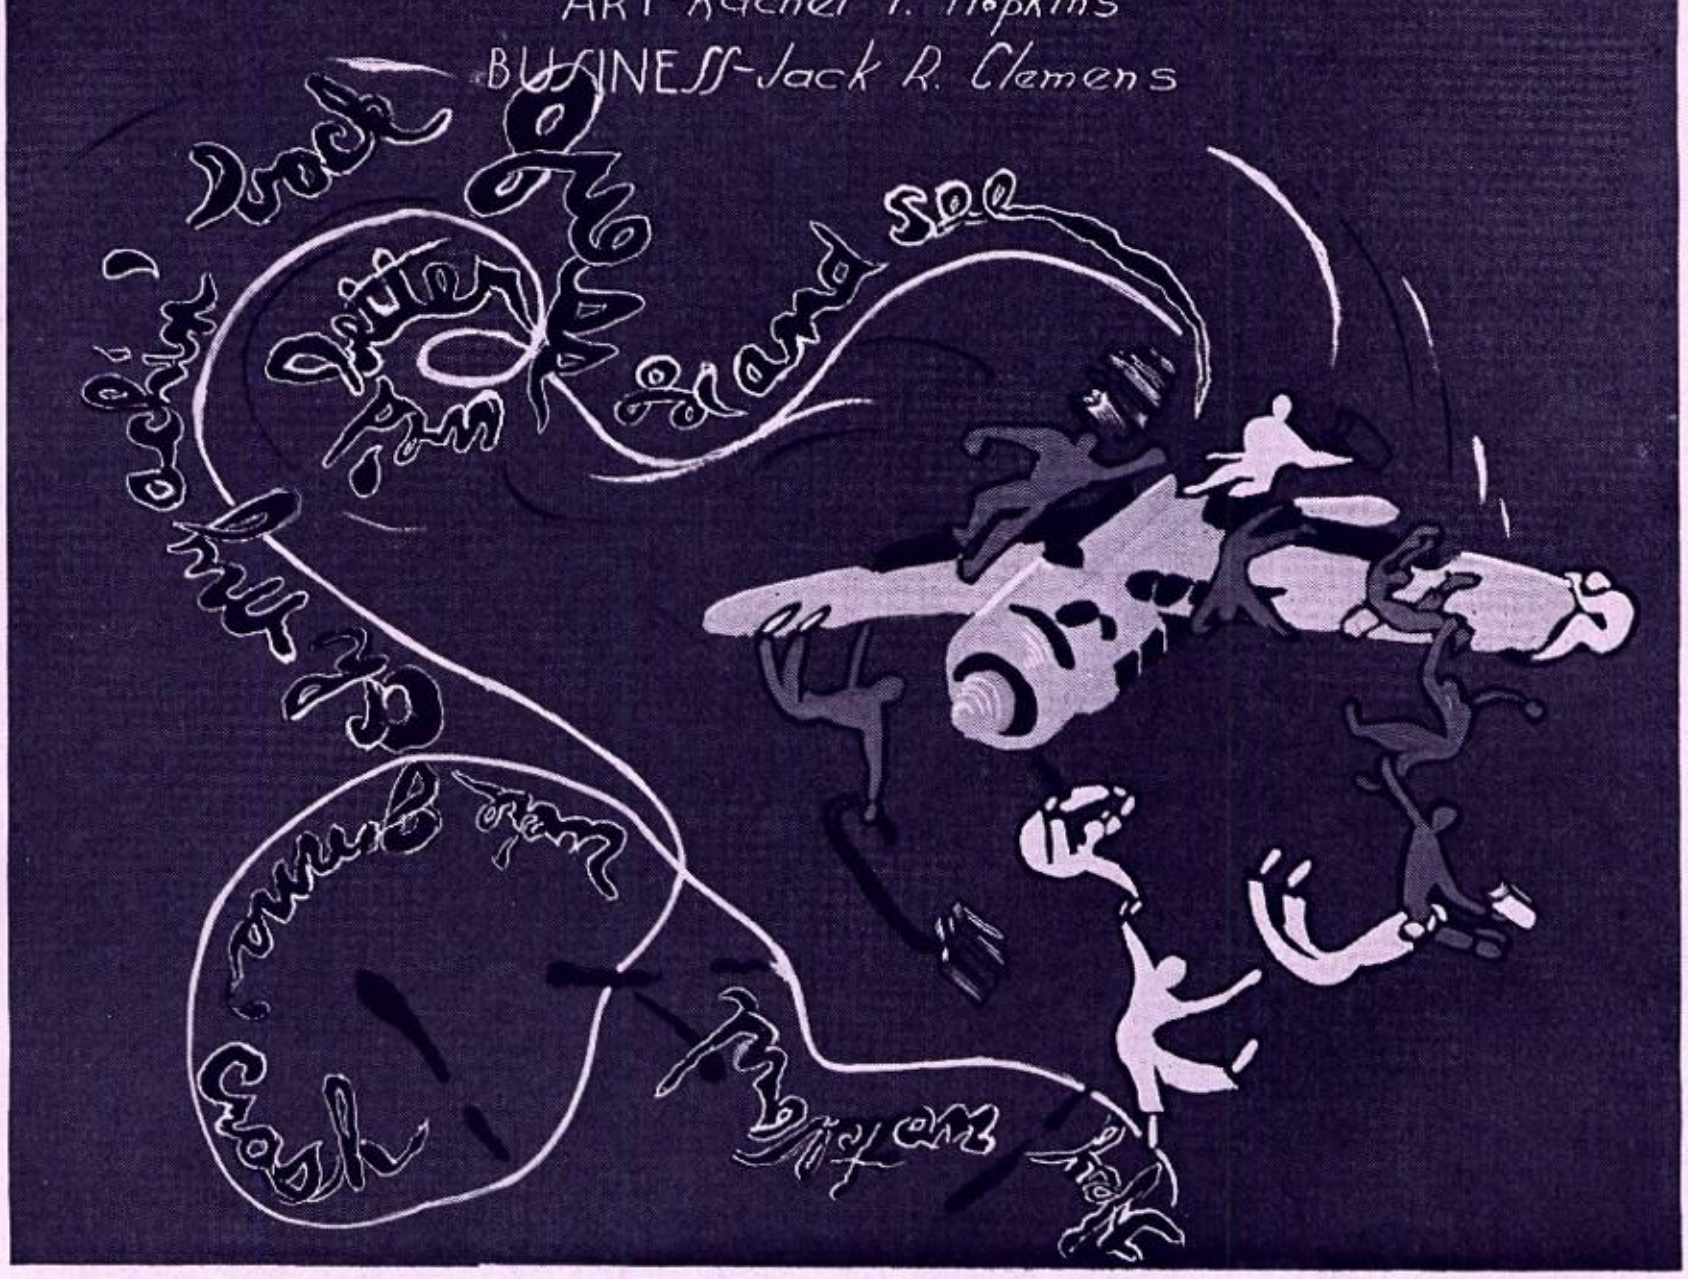
ART-Rachel T. Hopkins

BUSINESS-Jack R. Clemens



The Navigators . . .

IONA ARMAGOST

Mixing business with pleasure she instructs English trainees with the accuracy of an "ace." In addition, she combines forces with her sister each year in the supervision of senior picnics.

THELMA ARMAGOST

Many students are saved from a "crack-up" each year by this lady who thoroughly teaches the art of typewriting. This work is done in such a way that real enjoyment is found by all.

LAMAR S. ARMSTRONG

This gentleman's "angle of attack" is history. Maneuvers are carried on in such a way that it's almost impossible to recognize where the toil commences and the jollity ceases.

WILLIAM ARMSTRONG

"C. O." in charge of the philharmonic society is his forte. Under his counsel and guidance those musically inclined gain experience in the line for which they are best fitted.

RUSSELL G. ASHBAUGH

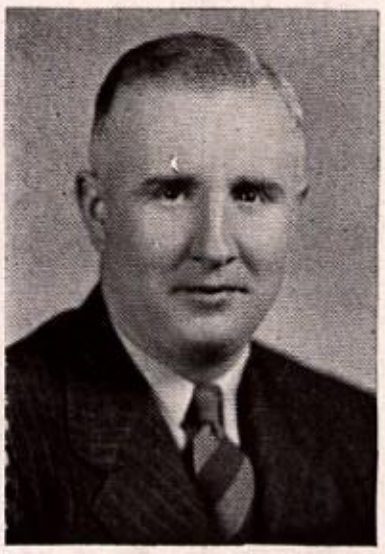
Former coach of "The Warriors" he can still unscramble a puzzling football play when it stumps all others. Since his retirement to a regular teaching schedule in 1939, he has spent his time unscrambling puzzling math problems...and "raisin' houn' dogs."

DOROTHY AYER

After completing the sewing course she has to offer, a student would never have to "bail out" because of an inadequate clothing supply. Her classes are supervised with helpful suggestions and a friendly smile.

A. T. BAKER

A squadron of able-bodied men are put under his direction each semester and the result is a number of beautiful pieces of furniture. Though his occupation pleases him, at times his favorite hobby calls and..."he'd druther go fishin'."



ALFRED BEACH

A specially trained test pilot, this gentleman, football and basketball coach, puts healthy young men through maneuvers which determines their maximum load factors without the deformation of any part of their anatomy.

RUTH BEECHER

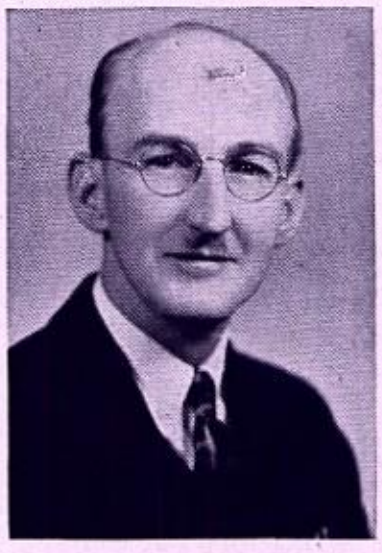
The smiling eyes that dote on the architecture of Italian cathedrals also seek higher horizons for the students in the world history classes which she so aptly teaches.

HORACE BIGGS

This gentleman is the efficient supervisor of the South Motion Picture Club. When not teaching biology, he spends his time helping to make the visual education department a bigger and better one for the benefit of all of us.

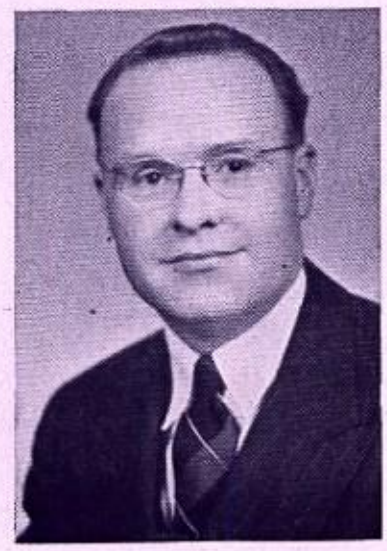
MARY MAUD BILLMAN

The strategy which she practices in teaching her French classes prevents any young hopeful from being "grounded" when approached by a native of the dialect.



LESLIE B. CALVIN

The aptitude applied in teaching his English and drama classes is overpowered only by his skill in directing the destinies of the Hi-Y Club and the June Senior Play. Following his capable directions, no cast could ever make a "bad landing."

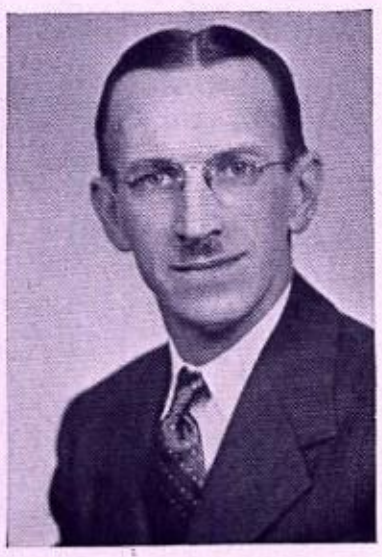


JAMES L. CAMPBELL

Proficient instructor of Spanish, this gentleman prevents many students from being "fouled-up" in their high school careers and all this with an insight everyone admires and strives to attain....His hobby...Mexico.

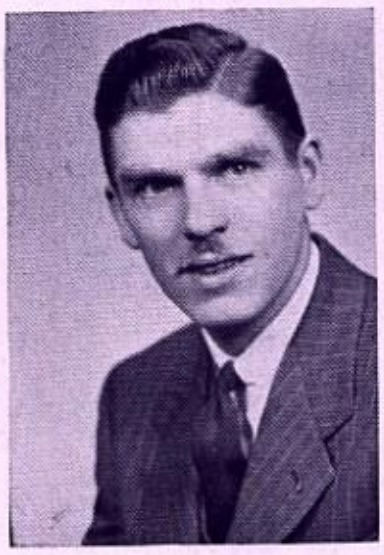
OLIVER CASH

Here is an "Ace" with a sense of humor and a personality that ranks "one in a million." His direction of the A Cappella Choir and various divisions of glee clubs has made him an irreplaceable fixture in the South High music department.



HAROLD CHAPEL

A thorough knowledge of typing and shorthand marks this gentleman for a "fast take-off" in the stenographic department. His spare time is spent beautifying his abode out Glenwood Avenue way.



JACK CLEMENS

Cross-country runs in all kinds of weather is his specialty, all due to his position as Faculty Manager of Athletics. He takes care of the business end of school activities and as a hobby manages to squeeze in a few welding and gym classes.

The Navigators . . .

JOHN CREAGER

This gentleman occupies the "hanger" known to one and all as the library. Here he efficiently manages the handing-out and taking in of books on every subject known to man...all done with a courtesy and pleasantness that defies description.

MYRTLE CREAMER

Tolerance and patience are her keynotes to success in her efforts to keep students "on the beam" in their study of the King's English. When "flying fatigue" threatens, she retires to the old homestead to recover.

NORMAN E. DAY

"Orders of the Day" are printed in this gentleman's room, the print shop. These include commencement programs, tickets and school forms of all shapes and sizes.

LaVERNE DELIN

Her students will never have to "hit the silk" so far as English is concerned. Her knowledge and perception of the language and her gracious manner in getting these ideas across make her a much respected member of the faculty.

EDGAR G. DIEHM

This notable personality perfects the flaws and aids the "take-off" of all future public speakers. This he does when not engaged in the productions of January Senior plays, Stagecraft plays, or the future of the Speech League.

RUTH DROWN

To cultivate the finer habits among future home makers is her purpose in teaching household arts at South. Her generous and sympathetic nature lends pleasure as well as enlightenment to this process.

GEORGE EDDY

As director of the Mahoning County Business Research Bureau this member of our faculty brings an insight to his teaching of United States history and economics that can't be surpassed.

ETHEL EVANS

Major Domo of the book room is her title. Without her capable management in this department we'd all be "washed-out" in no time...no texts...nothing learned. History classes profit by the balance of her day at school.

ROY FELLERS

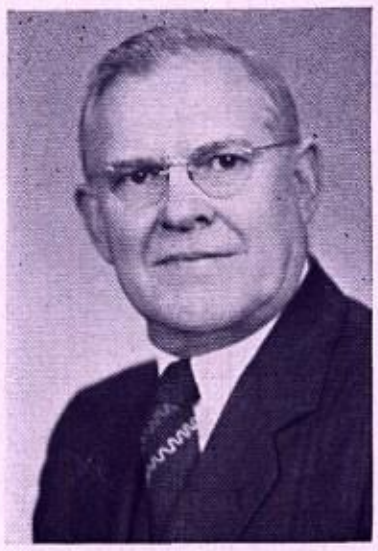
Need a speaker or an economist for some occasion or other? This is the man to "contact." The balance of his hours are filled with the problems and promotion of the National Honor Society.

GERTRUDE FOWLER

An outstanding ability to teach, the patience of Job, and an understanding heart all combine to make this "navigator" of mathematics a real asset to our faculty. To win your "wings" in her class demands the best.

JOHN FURRY

His "field of operations" lies within the department of English where the "production schedule" is always kept flowing at an even pace. The time that remains to him is spent cultivating beautiful flowers and vegetables in the peace of his garden.



E. V. GRAVES

The "clacking" of typewriters has had no effect upon the cheerful disposition of this gentleman of keen wit. With a ready smile and a snappy reply he has won the hearts of all those who have made "contact" with him.

EDNA GREEN

For a thorough "briefing" on the lives and habits of Caesar, Cicero, and Virgil, "check in" with this navigator. Be careful, though. Her methods are most exacting and will demand the most accurate "observations."

FREDA GREEN

Taking on the advisorship of the June senior class has in no way affected the quantity or quality of her work in the field of English where students are kept "strictly on the beam."

BRUCE HAMM

The development of healthy American boys is his "target for the year." In addition to his gym classes Bruce heads the South High track team which last year roared ahead to shatter seven old records. His aid to Al Beach in the fields of football and basketball is invaluable.

NAOMI HANNA

Aiding the student council in "knowing their position" at any given time plus the training she offers student pilots in the plan and design of metals and fabrics has earned her the fullest respect from all of us.

The Navigators . . .

HELEN HARPER

A flying trip to Spain will be made much more enjoyable if you've learned the language of the country under the "steady hand" of Navigator Harper. Look to the future, senors and senoritas!

RACHEL T. HOPKINS

Development of the artistic talent at South High revolves around this esteemed member of our faculty. By means of her guidance pens and brushes and paper and "fledglings" all manage to fly right to the "target."

CLARENCE HORTON

Keeping the figures straight on all "operations" requires unusual patience and accuracy. These qualities Mr. Horton develops in his students in spite of the worst conditions of haze and fog that might prevail.

DEAN O. JONES

This learned navigator holds sway down in a subterranean "hanger" in the rear of the school. Here members of the "ground crew" receive highly skilled instruction on the proper use of mechanical tools. The advisorship of the student council also falls upon his shoulders.

HELEN KORSALA

"Navigational problems" in the commercial studies which can cause "fledglings" no end of trouble are thoroughly reduced to simple tasks by means of Miss Korsala's careful guidance. In her classes "blind flying" is out of the picture.

GERTRUDE K. LAUGHLIN

Seemingly senseless signs on a piece of paper are no problem to the students in Miss Laughlin's classes. Guided by her patience and skill these signs develop clearness and meaning to even the haziest in the "flight group."

EDITH V. LIMBACH

Puzzling though this world might be, she always manages to fit the puzzle together with great skill and understanding. Especially is she interested in the history of our own great country. No danger of rolling off the "runway" in her classes.

AMELIA LIND

Early morning roll call for all "flight groups" rests in the hands of Miss Lind, dean of the faculty and head of the German department. All of us know her for her quiet ways and her very friendly smile.

JOHN MAHARRY

Head of the visual education department, Mr. Maharry keeps all of us posted on the right films for the right subject at the right time. This takes a great deal of work but he's still able to teach a number of classes and take snap shots for our "log book."

GERTRUDE K. MAIER

Frogs and bugs and things are carefully taken apart and analyzed by Miss Maier's "fledglings." Sometimes the accompanying odor is not too glamorous, but the work is always done with the utmost efficiency and exactness.

J. LEROY MILLER

In the interests of this great country he pilots his crew in the study of our government, developing in the minds of those he instructs the wish to become better citizens in the world of today and tomorrow.

ETHEL MILLIGAN

"Flights" from the "field of literature" originate in Miss Milligan's classes where students all find the necessary inspiration for such matters. Combining forces with Mr. Fellers she aids in the direction of the National Honor Society.

TED R. MOORE

Responsibility for "The Voice" and the Annual lies in Mr. Moore's hands. Most of his time is spent in meeting the "deadlines" of the photographer, the engraver and the printer. Training for such work is found in his journalism class.

GERALD MUNSON

Your plane won't "skid" or "nose dive" if you've enrolled in his course in retail selling. Not only can a student learn but he can also earn at the same time. The final result is a thorough course in merchandising.

PAUL MUSSELMAN

Numbers and what the student can do with them is the result of a course in mathematics under the guidance and stimulation of Mr. Musselman. Always efficient and to the point his "fledglings" turn into "aces" in almost no time at all.

HELEN K. OLDAKER

One of the many "top flight" grammarians on our faculty, Miss Oldaker turns out students richly steeped in the language of the land. In addition she has a lovely singing voice that we've heard all too infrequently.

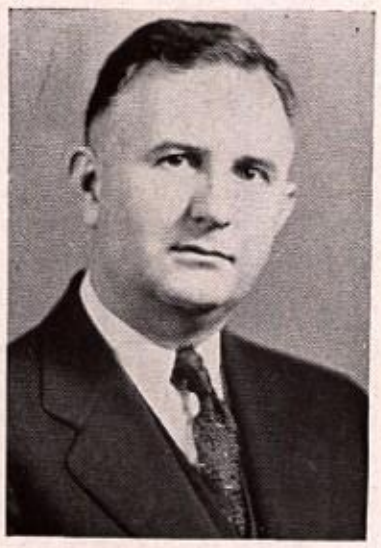
The Navigators . . .

H. V. OLDS

Exact measurement by means of a ruler and other delicate instruments enables the student in Mr. Olds' classes to pass his "flight plan" tests with the minimum of effort and the maximum of satisfaction.

NIELS F. PETERSEN

Anyone with his "nose pointed into the wind" will surely come to recognize the nature of Mr. Petersen's work due to the strange aromas that emanate from his chemistry laboratory. Accurateness and results are his bywords.



ALFRED H. QUINETTE

As the "quartermaster" of our air base, Mr. Quinette supplies students with paper, pencils, and various other items needed for efficient operations. In addition he guides all "trainees" interested in the effective use of the typewriter.

FLORENCE RICHARDS

To keep in good condition the "air line hostesses" of the future is her task. This she accomplishes by means of directed bending, twisting, kicking and lifting. There's time for play, too, in the form of basketball, volleyball, and other group and individual sports.

EDNA C. RUSSELL

The beauties of great English literature which the casual passerby can hear read and discussed in this classroom result from the fine guidance of Miss Russell whose "crew members" both respect and admire her.

AIMEE SEIDEL

Seeking perfection in the art of literature, she strives to teach her "birdmen" to fly to and beyond the greater heights of this artful language. This striving has always resulted in "mission accomplished" on the part of her students.

KATHERINE L. SIMMONS

"Flight requirements" under the guidance of Miss Simmons results in a profound knowledge of the English language and the ability to do future work carefully and conscientiously.

KARL J. SOLLER

Here is a jovial gentleman who delights in solving the mysteries of plants and animals and strange chemical combinations the aromas of which very often penetrate the very walls of the laboratory itself.

ARTHUR C. THOMAS

"To be there or not to be there" asks this experienced navigator of his literary minded men and women. His answer is obvious as he undertakes the many tasks and problems of the full-fledged pilots of the January graduating class in the capacity of advisor.

JEAN VAN FOSSAN

Healthy and very, very hungry "cadets" file each day to the cafeteria to be fed delicious, nourishing food under the capable guidance of this very gentle lady who manages to satisfy their every want.

SADIE VAN HOESEN

The trials and tribulations of a gentleman named Julius Caesar are carefully taken apart and put back together again in Miss Van Hoesen's classes with no great effort....on her part. Latin does have its problems, however, for the balance of the group.

HARMON C. WELCH

With the "bombers" go the "fighters," and so it is in Mr. Welch's classes...with each problem goes a story. This has no serious effect on the final result, for pigs plus radishes always equals...ah...?

D. LYTLE WIGGINS

A definite answer to the problem of what will happen if you jump out of a plane without a parachute is given in Mr. Wiggins' physics classes. Answers to all other physical science questions can be discovered under the kindly guidance of this gentleman.

ELOISE YOUNG

She teaches a course most necessary to the final polishing of the full-fledged cadet who has earned his "wings"...English. This task she completes with efficiency and kindly understanding.

January Class Events . . .

ELECTION

Although it was almost a year before graduation time, the class decided that elections were in order if the most was to be gotten out of class activities. So amid much much fervent balloting the following people were selected: Bob Swartz, president, Charlotte Madison, vice-president, Napoleon Bell, treasurer and Betty Baker, secretary.

MIXER

The January Senior Mixer was held in the girls' gym last April and was attended by a very good majority of the class. Since an orchestra was unobtainable at the time for dancing, records supplied the motive to "swing your partner." At the half-way mark, Harry Vandenbord, Bing Crosby of the class, rose to the occasion by rendering several popular songs. Soft drinks were on hand to quench the thirst of one and all.

PICNICS

The January Seniors held two picnics, one in June and the other in September. The advisors on both occasions were the Misses Armagost and Mr. Thomas. The June picnic was held at Slippery Rock with baseball providing the main attraction. A light lunch was served by the picnic committee after which the "rains came!" End of picnic. The second picnic was held at Chestnut Hill Pavilion. It got under way at two o'clock and lasted till six in spite of a miniature cloudburst. All kinds of contests filled the program followed by a luncheon served by the women of the Indianola Methodist Church.

PLAY

An exceptional but very representative cast of January Seniors presented the sparkling comedy "Cash and Carrie" on the evening of December 7. Under the direction of Edgar Diehm this group produced a show that completely satisfied the large and laugh-hungry audience.

PROM

This event, with pictures, has been recorded in great detail within the next several pages.

BACCALAUREATE

Solemnly approaching the end of their high school careers, the class assembled in the auditorium of a Sunday afternoon to hear a very inspiring sermon by Reverend Humbert on the advantages of being broadminded.

CLASS DAY AND RECEPTION

Class day, held Wednesday afternoon, January 16, provided for parents and class members an hour of entertainment followed by a tea in the cafeteria. Participating were Napoleon Bell, Bob Swartz, Mr. Fleming, Katherine Boukas, Bill Dunlap, Dick Peterson, Shirley Seaman, Sally Meany, Don Dean, Tom Priestley, John Patton, Richard Judy and Bill Berkinyi.

BANQUET

The class banquet, held at the Indianola Methodist Church, got under way at 6:30 o'clock on the evening of January 23. Following a delicious dinner featuring baked ham, the evening program got under way with President Bob Swartz acting as toastmaster. After a number of short entertaining skits by members of the class, Don Dean lead the class in group singing. Featured on the program were Richard Priestley, Audrey Helman, Marjorie Kohler, Shirley Seaman, Don Dean, Robert Swartz, Beverly Goldlust, Bobbie Gallagher, Dick Peterson, Mr. Thomas and Mr. Fleming. Responsible for the success of this fine affair were Banquet Committee Chairman Mary Jo Turek and Advisors Beecher, Hopkins and Thomas.

GRADUATION

Thursday, January 24, marked the end of high school for the January Seniors. Commencement ceremonies took place at Stambaugh Auditorium. Speaker for the occasion was Dr. W. G. Spencer, President of Franklin College, Franklin, Indiana, who stressed the value of paying past debts. Napoleon Bell, Richard Peterson and James Carhart won the class awards, Peterson and Carhart were also declared to be co-valedictorians. Dr. Earl H. Young, representing the board of education, presented the diplomas.

Tuberculosis took a . . . .

very severe setback this winter when a large van arrived at our school equipped with a portable x-ray machine and staffed with two very competent technicians and three nurses. Setting up shop in the girls' gym, they rapidly proceeded to examine the entire student bodies of the day and night schools plus a large number of parents. Previous to the actual picture taking, identification cards were prepared and made ready for distribution. The whole process required only two days, Wednesday and Thursday, February 27 and 28.

The incidents pictured above are typical of those which occurred to over 2000 other students and parents. Eugene Kingure, one of a group of fifty, was called from studyhall. After removing his shirt, he proceeded to the girls' gymnasium, received his identification card, was x-rayed, and then returned to studyhall. The entire procedure took not more than ten minutes.

Sponsor of this outstanding effort to stamp out tuberculosis was the Mahoning County Tuberculosis and Health Association.

January Senior Play . . .

A Laugh A Minute . . .

The January Senior Class presented Dorothy Rood Stewart's highly entertaining three-act comedy, "Cash and Carrie," on the evening of December 7. Under the able direction of Edgar G. Diehm an exceptional senior cast withstood the rigors of first night "jitters," the glare of footlights and an unusually full house to the complete satisfaction of everyone concerned.

The entire action of the play took place in the dining room of the Ferguson home where they had lived for almost seventeen years and had "never thrown a thing away." The story revolved around Mrs. Carrie Ferguson, deeply involved in budgets, options and her beloved family of three daughters and a son. Another character figuring prominently in the plot was Carrie's eccentric, rich and pompous old uncle. In the course of the action everything from helicopters to curling irons was included. There was a bit of tenseness, too, when it seemed that the family must certainly be evicted from their home. When Carrie finally disappeared from the old abode for a mysterious length of time, the entire family, including the hard-hearted old uncle, were completely bewildered and overcome with grief. Difficulties were finally solved, of course, and the balance of play quickly built up to a hilarous climax which "left 'em rollin' in the aisles."

Especially to be commended were those members of the production staff who built and painted the attractive "flats," gathered the necessary furniture, prompted the actors and regulated the lighting effects in a way that added so much to the final effect. Included in this group were Doris Jones, Audrey Helman, Thelma Dolne, Jean Young, Tom LaVelle, Dolores Beye, and Fred Beede, Jr. Serving as Faculty Business Manager was Jack Clemens while Leslie Calvin and Marge Powell took charge of make-up.

The South High Orchestra under the direction of William Armstrong furnished enjoyable musical entertainment between acts.

January Senior Prom . . .

The Nu Elms Ballroom was the scene of the festivities which marked another highly successful January Senior Prom. Promptly at nine o'clock on the evening of January 18, 1946, Tee Ross, bandmaster, raised his baton and the sweet music for which he is so well known caused large numbers of carefully groomed young gentlemen to whirl out on the dance floor with an equal number of sweetly perfumed young ladies. This scene was repeated time and again till the orchestra finally sent out a call for help in the form of an intermission.

The time spent during the intermission resulted in the high point of the evening....the crowning of the king and queen. In a most impressive ceremony while the orchestra played "Here's to the South High Warriors," the royalty, Charlotte Madison and Bill Weaver, followed by their attendants, slowly and solemnly made their way from the rear of the ballroom to the bandstand. Here Napoleon Bell awaited them and after making a number of complimentary remarks to each one, placed a wreath of carnations on Charlotte's head and a silver crown on Bill's. A great deal of handclapping followed this event, of course, plus a number of hearty yells. The cameraman was there too and decided to step in at this point to record the scene for posterity, as you can plainly see on the next page.

Having received the honor of being elected king and queen, Charlotte and Bill now had to assume the responsibility which accompanied it.... leading the Grand March. Looking not quite so concerned as before, they performed their task with ease and after everyone had marched around the ballroom twice, dancing was resumed.

Among the memories of this affair which will not be soon forgotten were the lovely pictures which the girls presented in their long, dainty formals decorated with beautiful corsages and the boys in striking contrast wearing their best "Sunday go to meetin' " suits. Not to be overlooked, since the subject has been brought up, were two gentlemen who arrived in tuxedos and a young lady who had mustered up enough courage to wear a strapless evening gown....More power to her!

This scene of gaiety continued until shortly after twelve o'clock at which time the band departed and the guests reluctantly took their leave into the chill night air.

Shades of the Past . . .

From the "long ogo" comes this picture. We thought you might like to know that even the stately seniors had a childhood even as you and I.

If you'll look closely, you'll discern nineteen '46 seniors, two '45 seniors, eight others for good luck and one teacher.

Reading from left to right we have in the first row: Sally McLaughlin, Melvin Linville, Ruth Hamer, Robert Camp, Polly Bucher, Malcolm Linville and Jack Brown.

Second Row: Mary Ann Krizan, Doris Nielson, Donald Gustafson, Gloria Barber, William Dunlap, Carolyn Brownlee, David Peterson, Paul Brenner and Marion Davies.

Third Row: Betty Tucker, Robert Molnar, Nancy Dunne, Kenneth Dole, Grace Timer, Raymond O'Brien, Lois Davidson, Alex Bord and Richard Peterson.

Fourth Row: Miss Ruth Duncan, Ruth Ann Culbertson, unidentified, Mary Louise Thalmann, unidentified.

June Senior Class Events . . .

OCTOBER

While the cheers and laughter of a football "pep" assembly for the ensuing battle with Rayen were echoing through the deserted corridors of the school, a most serious event was taking place. This was the day chosen to elect class officers, and June Senior history was in the making!

Twelve students, Lew Price, Don Goodall, Al Kritter, Bill Lee, Bill Lindquist, Charles Whitman, Jeanette Gibba, June Weir, Betty Osborne, Dolores Heim, Ann Jones and Lois Porter, had been selected under the "Nomination Plan" as possible candidates to fill the four elective offices. This plan, a definite improvement over previous election programs, had been sponsored by Miss Beard, our former class advisor, during the second semester of our junior year. Under the plan a "Representative Council" selected the six boys and six girls receiving the highest number of votes by nomination as election possibilities.

Previous to the final counting of votes, Miss Freda Green, who had "taken over" in Miss Beard's place, had helpfully and efficiently aided us in our work. Voting took place in the regular class assemblies with the distribution, collection and counting of votes handled by the Representative Council. This group was headed by Joe Bryan with Ray Gearhart, Joe Vernarsky, Ruth Patrick, Lucy Naples, Jeanne Kavinsky, Marianne Kingure, Donna Hagan, Dolores Rauschenberg, Betty Bidner and Mary Ann Cerimele assisting.

Final tabulations, figured in Rooms 118 and 200, showed the following excellent results: president, Lew Price; vice-president, Jeanette Gibba; Treasurer, Bill Lindquist and secretary, Dolores Heim.

MIXER
FEBRUARY

The first of two class "Mixers" for the graduating June Seniors took place in the girls' gymnasium on the evening of February 17 and lasted from 7:30 till 10:00 o'clock.

It turned out to be a real "mixer" in the fullest sense of the word. Long before the evening got under way, plans had been laid to create the friendliest atmosphere possible. Identification cards had been printed; refreshments and a "juke" box had been ordered; and a lively intermission program planned.

After dancing had been under way for an hour and a half, the famous song and comedy team of Stanley and DeCola took over to hold the group spellbound with several entertaining songs and some very humorous jokes. They were followed by Harry Vandenbord, class crooner, who did a really remarkable job on two of the popular songs. Mr. Diehm, never to be outdone in ways oratorical or otherwise, then rose to his feet and told several of his inimitable anecdotes.

When 10:00 o'clock finally did roll around and the "time to leave" signal had been given, everyone departed with genuine feelings of surprise and friendliness at the many nice friends, talents and interests they had discovered among their classmates.

It can be said that "the 'mixer' was a real success".

SPORT DANCE
MARCH

One hundred and fifty June seniors danced to their hearts' content on the evening of March 15 at the spacious Nu Elms Ballroom with music for the occasion being supplied by Tee Ross' popular orchestra.

Dancing got under way at 9:00 o'clock with Tee alternating "jitterbug" and slow numbers. Strange as it might seem, the "easy pace" was overwhelmingly more popular. Outstanding on the list of superb dancers were Alan Mason and Mary Jane Seaburg with Ed Harmicar and Leonard Nichol taking the "sitting out" honors.

Between dances most couples were to be seen retreating to the balcony where cokes and handholding were the popular pastimes. Mischief, however, was kept at a premium by the splendid work of the chaperones, Miss Delin, Miss Green, and Mr. Campbell, who, incidently, seemed to enjoy themselves immensely.

The strains of "Good Night, Ladies" finally floated across the ballroom floor at midnight, and everyone, tired but happy, departed into the crisp March night.

FLORENCE McNAUGHTON

One of our own South High girls, Florence Jean McNaughton, in competition with 122 other outstanding Mahoning Valley students, achieved the high honor of representing Youngstown on a coast-to-coast broadcast with the nationally famous "Quiz Kids" last November 18, 1945. After besting all the local talent in a series of auditions, Florence proceeded to do a very commendable job against such mental wizards as Joel Kupperman, Richard Williams, Robert Burke and Judy Graham. The final program was held at the Stambaugh Auditorium and was under the direction of Quizmaster Joe Kelly.

The objective of the groups pictured on these two pages is "To promote ideals of scholarship, leadership, character and service in the school and, later on, in life". To become a member, therefore, candidates must possess an excellent scholastic record, show qualities of leadership and high character and have been of service to the school during their high school careers.

Activities for the year got under way September 16, when Mr. Roy Fellers and Miss Ethel Milligan, club advisors, sponsored a weiner roast at Mr. Feller's cabin in Boardman. This event was followed on January 10 by an election of officers for the succeeding semester. Fred Doering was chosen president; June Cable, vice-president; Betty Osborne, secretary; and Bob Brown, treasurer. January 16 marked the date of the recognition assembly for new members with Dr. Fred Essig as the main speaker for the occasion. A most impressive part of the ceremony was the entrance of the new members bearing candles and their later induction into the organization. The final event of the year was entirely social, a theater party. Meeting in the lobby of the Warner Theater at seven o'clock on the evening of January 15, the whole group proceeded to view a most excellent picture, "They Were Expendable", starring Robert Montgomery.

BY ORDER OF THE COURT

The fine group of people pictured above made up the governing body of South High School this past year. Divided into a number of committees covering all phases of student activity, they proceeded to aid the Motion Picture Club in choosing an emblem for their organization, stage a school assembly program and direct a campaign for the collection of sales tax stamps.

The activities of this organization were under the combined direction of Miss Naomi Hanna and Mr. Dean Jones.

ALL THE WORLD'S A STAGE . . .

"Love Your Neighbor", a three act comedy, was the crowning achievement of the year for the Stagecrafters under the direction of Edgar Diehm. Other efforts were especially outstanding, however, and included an assembly program for the school, ushering at the "Youngstown Playhouse", contributing talent to school programs and a series of club meetings at which various members presented short skits.

Theirs was the purpose of "portraying and acting for the advancement of their speech, grammar and enjoyment; and giving pleasure to others through the production of interesting skits and plays".

SCENE: the living room of the Emil Vashki home on the edge of an imaginary town in Iowa.

The South High Stagecraft Club under the able direction of their advisor, E. G. Diehm, presented March 22, 1946, the sparkling three-act comedy by Albert Johnson, "Love Your Neighbor". With an outstanding cast of nineteen Stagecraft members, the play was a laugh-filled hit, repeatedly sending the huge audience present into gales of laughter.

The plot, including everything from bees to bus terminals, concerned in its many complications the Vashki family and their friends and relatives. Chiefly, it centered around the eldest daughter, Tessy, a college graduate, and her romantic troubles. Tessy is engaged to an aristocratic "drip", name of Oswald Frederick. Oswald by marrying the gal hopes to attain an important position in his wealthy Aunt Agatha's candy firm . . . the aunt and the boy's mother, you see, feel that his marrying a smalltown girl will further their rural business.

Now enters Johnny Jones, the Vashkis' next-door neighbor and an ex-Marine, who literally "bee" witches Tessy away from Ozzie. Johnny first makes an impression on the lady when one of his bees stings her on the lip just as Ozzie is getting ready to deliver a most romantic kiss. The pain of the incident is quickly removed by Johnny's unusual method of relieving bee stings....He kisses it away!

Things happen rapidly from this point onward. An art exhibit by Flora Vashki, an artist of sorts, is arranged by the Fredericks' chauffeur, Maxey, to be held, in of all places....a bus terminal! After a knock-down-drag-out fight between Johnny and Ozzie...in which they both get knocked out.... Tessy decides that Johnny is her boy. Ozzie then proceeds to reclaim his engagement ring and places it on Tessy's younger sister Dora's hand. Mortgaged property raises its ugly head late in the play, but everything is straightened out to the satisfaction of all concerned when the debt is paid by Mrs. Bixby, Ozzie's aunt.

Music between the acts was furnished by the South High Orchestra under the direction of W. E. Armstrong. Mr. Jack Clemens handled the business and Fred Beede, Jr. was stage manager. Electrician for the event was Tom LaVelle. Bookholders included Loretta Petti and Agnes DiRendo with Natalie Franklin acting as property mistress and Mr. Leslie Calvin in charge of make-up.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN . . .

The Speech League under the direction of Edgar Diehm had a highly varied activity schedule this past year with both of Youngstown's radio stations, W.F.M.J. and W.K.B.N., claiming their time for "Junior Town Meeting" and "Student Congress of the Air" programs respectively. In addition were a number of interscholastic debates and individual events with the "Prince of Peace" declamation contest rounding out the season.

Having as their purpose for being "the extension of the art of forensics", the group met weekly in Room 7.

A Cappella Choir . . .

Especially outstanding this past year has been the work of the A Cappella Choir under the direction of Oliver P. Cash. Resplendant in beautiful scarlet and white robes and singing flawlessly they repeatedly presented an inspiring sight to the student body and various community groups on the many occasions when they made their appearances.

Singing with equal ability religious, classical and popular tunes, their engagement book called for performances before the student body on Navy Day, Parent Receptions, the Christmas Concert, the Christmas Assembly, the operetta, the Music Festival and Baccaulaureate Services both semesters. Claiming their services outside of school were Indianola Methodist, St. Lukes Lutheran and Trinity Churches, Hillman and Princeton Junior High Schools and Station W.F.M.J.

WHEN GOOD FELLOWS GET TOGETHER

With their purpose of creating, maintaining and extending throughout the school and community high standards of Christian character, the South Hi-Y Club of 1945-'46 continued to uphold the fine traditions of the organization. Under the direction of Leslie Calvin, weekly meetings were held this year at the Y.M.C.A. "Youth Center". Extra-curricular activities included stag parties, bowling parties, dances, a basketball tournament and a school assembly program.

SOUND, ACTION, CAMERA!

Every South High student has had the experience of being in a class that has been directed to proceed to Room 220 at the beginning of the hour. There through the medium of the motion picture they were able to gain a deeper insight into the subject under discussion.

Helping to make possible this interesting and educative method of classroom study are the members of the South Motion Picture Club under the combined direction of Horace Biggs and John Maharry, for theirs is the responsibility of operating and understanding the various picture projectors in operation.

The annual social affairs of this excellent organization include a club party, a "theater party", and a picnic in the spring .

Continuing their fine work in the study and analysis of the various fields of merchandising are the FRY-ers (formerly the Dean's Club). This group not only receives formal class instruction but also the opportunity to work in various merchandising stores in the vicinity so as to secure actual work experience first hand. An interesting sidelight of this group's work is talks by prominent business men and a number of field trips to nearby manufacturing plants.

Guiding them along the way is Gerald Munson, responsible for the distributive education in all of the city public high schools.

Library Assistants . . .

HERE'S A GOOD BOOK!

The library assistants under the direction of Mr. John Creager, librarian, and Mrs. David Shaw, assistant librarian, have performed a very valuable service to our school this past year. With their main purpose being the task of aiding students and books to get together, their work also enables them to get practice in office and library routines and the opportunity to learn how to get along with others. In addition, a study is made of library work as a profession with school credit being given to those completing a semester of five hours weekly.

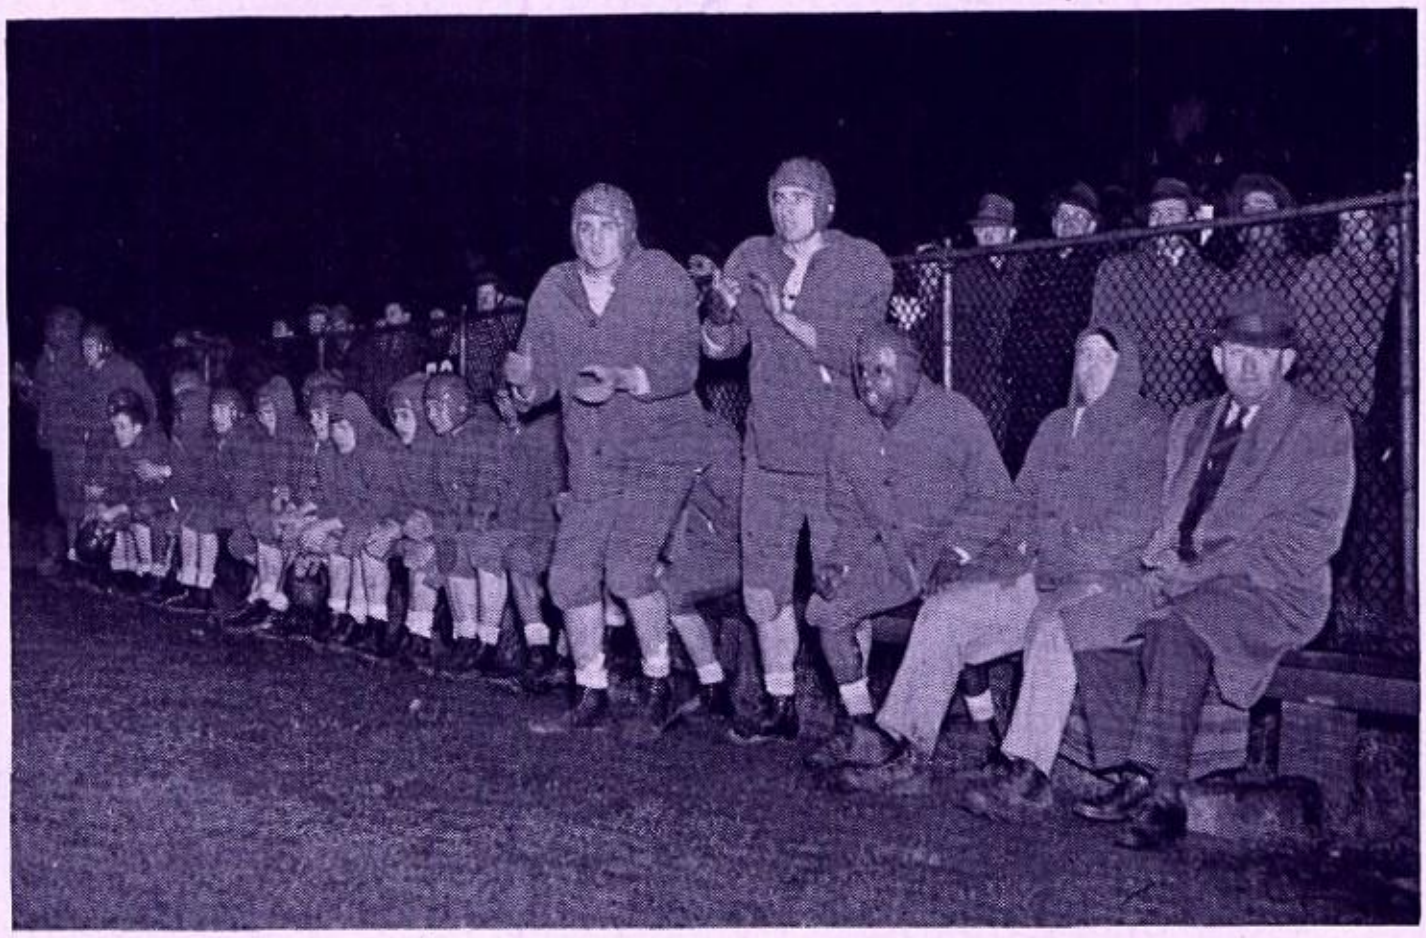
THE RAYMOND BOTT TROPHY



South High "Warriors" came out of their gridiron battles boasting six wins and three losses against the best competition this area had to offer. Oddly enough, the teams which succeeded in overcoming South were located in the Mahoning Valley Area; while highly-touted teams, such as Cleveland Shaw, Elyria and Niles, were taken care of quite handily. This seems to speak well of the caliber of football played in our immediate vicinity.

Overcoming Wilson in the opener, South went down to defeat against Memorial. Traveling to Cleveland they bested Cleveland Shaw and turned in wins the following weeks against Chaney and Elyria. The spell was broken, however, against the powerful attack of the Ursulinites and hopes of a city-series championship were dashed to the ground. Niles was taken over 6-0; South succumbed to Rayen the following week; and the season concluded with a win over the East High "Trojans."

Season's Summary . . .

South vs. Woodrow Wilson 13-0

The Red and Blue jaggernaut rolled over the Woodrow Wilson eleven 13-0 in the season's opener. Touchdowns were made by Don Stevens and "Slick" Kay with Pesut kicking the conversion. Wilson led by Franko was sent reeling early in the fray and, not being able to recover sufficiently, remained scoreless.

South vs. Memorial 13-0

The Memorial aggregation handed the Warriors a 13-0 set-back in the second game of the year. The lighter South line was never able to cope with the quartet of Modak, Goldston, Parker and Niemczura who behind superlative blocking blasted their way to a score in each half.

South vs. Cleveland Shaw 19-6

The Warriors taking to the road defeated the Cleveland Shaw gridders 19-6 in a game filled with chills, thrills, long runs and fine teamwork. Don Stevens was featured when he converted a fumble into a fifty-four yard dash to chalk up the second tally of the game. Other touchdowns were registered by Stevens, Richards and Giddens.

South vs. Chaney 6-0

A fast Red and Gray aggregation offered some thrilling resistance and very tense moments in the South-Chaney fray which ended 6-0 in our favor. Chaney, whose scat backs continually threatened to turn the tide, were never quite able to make the grade. South supporters certainly breathed easier when the final whistle blew.

South vs. Elyria 21-12

The Red and Blue were hosts to the Elyria eleven in a rough and tumble affair with South emerging on top 21-12. Elyria caused the Warriors some concern by scoring in the early minutes of the first quarter. The Warriors' attack, however, started to roll with tallies registered by Bell, Richards, and Giddens.

South vs. Ursuline 13-0

Arousing more interest than any other high school game of the season, Ursuline met the Warriors on our home grounds in a downpour of rain which ended 13-0 in their favor. Early in the second quarter Ursuline scored on a pass and although South played valiantly, the North Siders chalked up another marker to clinch the game 13-0.

South vs. Niles 6-0

South, expected a breather at Niles, was roughly jolted by a stubborn McKinley eleven. Turning to the stout left arm of Don Stevens to pull the game out of the fire, the resourceful "Slick" Kay applied the clincher as he scooped up a pass in the end zone to make the final result 6-0 favor South.

South vs. Rayen 14-7

Running every place but over the goal line the Warriors lost their traditional encounter with Rayen 14-7 when "Lefty" Tabachino, Rayen's star back, scampered 79 yards to chalk up the clinching touchdown of the game. With Bell smashing the ball forward South's lone tally was scored by Burnett on a quarterback sneak.

South vs. East 12-0

By means of exceptional line play the Red and Blue rolled over the East High Trojans 12-0 in the final game of the year. In the first chapter "Slick" Kay tallied for South on a long pass tossed by Stevens. Stevens also figured in the second tally when he ran the ball on a reverse into pay dirt to wind up the game for the evening.

ACCURACY

An accurate life . . . .
An accurate watch . . .
There is no substitute for either. Hamilton Watches have been accurate for years. See our selection. There is no obligation.

Keep Your Eye on the Ball
(The Big, Round World!)

This old planet of ours will stand a lot of watching and study. Naturally you're among those who will want to know what it is all about and who will do everything possible to make our "one world" a better world.

Best Wishes, Seniors of '46!

Brave New World!

You're the lucky ones, you Class of '46. You graduate into a world in which the deadly chatter of machine guns has given way to the hopeful conversation of the peace tables. A brave new world has been born. Today it's an infant, blind and helpless, but innately sturdy, lusty and courageous. Your generation must assume the responsibility for its growth and development. If you shoulder your international responsibilities intelligently, this infant will become a haven for mankind. If you shrug off your international responsibilities, it will become the scene of Man's destruction. It's up to you! Choose!
